Love is the most important thing in everybody's life, others believe that money and business are more necessary.

As for me, firstly, love is indeed the most important passion I can have. Firstly, love can make people do great things, they become very creative. Secondly, love fills people's lives with positive emotions they want to get swept away, sing or dance.

Moreover, love makes people forgiving.

But at the same time there are people who think that money is more important. They believe that if they have money they can have love easily.

I can envision I would like to say that love and money are important but love's more essential.
